

State of Agriculture

AUGUST 3, 2017 | SACRAMENTO, CA

As a region with deep roots in agriculture, with America's Farm-to-Fork Capital at its core, the agriculture industry is a vital piece of our region's economic puzzle. Wine grapes are just one of the many bountiful crops grown in our expansive farmland and rank as the 3rd largest agriculture commodity in our region. The wine industry is having the same challenges and successes many of our region's diverse agriculture producers are facing today. From water issues, labor shortages, and tourism, to navigating the uniqueness of sales channels and generational ownership changes, join us as we explore the topics that matter to this industry. Our region's most influential wine industry experts will share how they are navigating an ever-changing future while continuing to treasure the romance of their craft. Join the Metro Chamber and hundreds of area leaders in a robust discussion on one of our region's largest exports.
